BlueSilencer, aims to minimize the happening of mobile phone rings in places where silence should be kept, such as lecture halls, movie theatres and conference rooms. It is installed in such venues; and it can automatically turn mobile phones into silent mode through the Bluetooth signal. The nearest competitor is signal blocker which completely disables the operation of mobile phones. The advantage of it is to maintain normal operation of mobile phones. We can also patent this technology to create barriers to entry. The major market targets at educational schools, movie and performance theatres, and companies. There is huge potential for expanding into the international market. BlueSilencer Plus also enables sending files to BlueSilencer which is available free or at a very minimal price to existing customers. This enhancement is useful especially for big presentation theatres where big people give presentations, and the slides or images can be downloaded to the cell phones of the audience.

BlueSilencer aims to minimize the ringing of mobile phones in places where silence should be maintained, such as lecture halls, movie theatres, and conference rooms. When installed in such venues, BlueSilencer can automatically place mobile phones into a silent mode via Bluetooth signal. The closest competitor is a signal blocker, which completely disables the operation of mobile phones. Clearly, the advantage of BlueSilencer is that it does not interfere with the normal operation of mobile phones. We can also patent this technology to create barriers to entry. The major target markets include schools, movie and performance theatres, and industry. Huge potential is seen for expanding into the international market. BlueSilencer Plus also enables the ability to send files via BlueSilencer, and this capability is available free or at a very minimal price to existing customers. This enhancement is especially useful for venues at which large presentations are made, since the presenter's slides or images can be downloaded to the cell phones of the audience.
